COMMERCIAL DRIVER'S LICENSE TRAINING

Overview

Program Description

This program is not accepting students at this time.

CMU Tech's Commercial Driver License (CDL) program utilizes classroom instruction and on-the-road driving time to prepare students for the Colorado Department of Motor Vehicles Commercial Driver's License A Examination. Commercial Driver's License theory and behind-the-wheel instruction will be provided.

Important information about this program

To obtain a CDL Initial Permit Class A after completion of CDLT 100, a student must meet the following criteria:

- Hold a valid regular driver's license and be at least 18 years old before applying for a CDL permit.
- Through the Department of Motor Vehicle office, successfully pass the written test for a CDL Class A.
- Once the required exam is successfully passed, a CDL permit for the applicable fee must be purchased.

In order to complete the CDL Driver's Skills Test, a student must meet the following criteria:

- Successful obtainment of CDL Initial Permit Class A.
- Current Department of Transportation (DOT) medical card.
- Proof of current physical Colorado address documents.
- Proof of Social Security number.
- Schedule a driver's skills test with an approved driving school.
- Return to DMV with proof of successful completion of the driver's skills test completion form and purchase a CDL for the applicable fee.

Contact Information

CMU Tech
CMU Tech Student Support Center, Kayenta Hall 102
2508 Blichmann Avenue
970.255.2670

Programs of Study

Certificates

- Commercial Driver's License Training (Technical Certificate)