

INITIAL TEACHER LICENSURE

Students already holding a Bachelor's degree may pursue an initial teaching license at CMU in Elementary, Secondary, or K-12 Physical Education. Secondary licensure may be obtained in: Science, Social Studies, English, Mathematics, or Spanish.

For students pursuing coursework and preparation that leads solely to an initial teaching license, the Center for Teacher Education offers an intensive post-baccalaureate preparation program that can be completed in 12 months. The same coursework is also available at the undergraduate level in a 3-4 semester sequence at a somewhat slower pace. Either of these options lead to a recommendation for Colorado's initial teaching license with successful program completion.

The initial teacher preparation coursework is incorporated in the MA, Education degree, allowing a student to complete teacher licensure and a master's degree in five semesters. The coursework begins at the post-baccalaureate initial teacher licensure level and includes internship experiences. The Master of Arts in Education core content follows in the second year; these courses are shown in the Graduate Education programs section.

First steps, prior to formal application, require review of bachelor's degree or other previous coursework transcripts. Leveling courses may be required prior to admission into the graduate program.
